After comming back to Lithuania, participants organized local events where learning experiences were shared and conversations were held project theme, organized activities in their communities. The participants were from different cities, so meetings with young people and with colleagues took place in various forms and methods, and the target groups were also diverse.

The project had an impact because our participants gained a greater understanding of the importance of inclusive sexual and reproductive health education topics. They gained valuable insights into effective teaching. Newly acquired knowledge and skills acquired during the project will facilitate educational experiences that contribute to the well-being of young people.
