We would like to reflect on having been a partner for the “Creating a Safe Space for Inclusivity: Sexual and Reproductive Non-formal Education for Youth Workers - Respectrum” project which took place in June 2023. NGO Young Folks LV from Latvia is a long-term partner with NGO “ACPELIA” and this project was another great case of collaboration between us. In frame of the mentioned above project we sent our youth workers as participants. Basing on participant’s feedback and follow-up activities we state the following about the project:

The project, "Creating a Safe Space for Inclusivity: Sexual and Reproductive Non-formal Education for Youth Workers - Respectrum," effectively implemented strategies fostering social inclusion and combatting discrimination, particularly within the context of sexual and reproductive non-formal education for youth workers. The facilitators and trainers skillfully crafted a safe environment of young people. The project demonstrated thorough preparation, featuring a well-balanced schedule encompassing energizers, group work, self-learning sessions, cultural and outdoor activities, reflections, and city exploration. The timing allowed participants to acquire new knowledge, engage in meaningful peer discussions, and process the information before returning home. The hospitality and support provided throughout the project were noteworthy, contributing to the overall positive experience. The project has already initiated dissemination activities, successfully achieving its goals and promoting results at the local level. Our organization is grateful for the gained support and experience, expressing satisfaction with the collaborative and successful partnership. We eagerly anticipate future collaborations and the prospect of being partners again. The hosting organization maintained effective communication with every partner, including us. Preceding the main project, multiple online meetings addressed organizational matters and potential pre-departure issues. Various communication platforms, such as Facebook (messenger), e-mail, WhatsApp, facilitated team interaction. Any issues encountered by participants during the project were swiftly and efficiently resolved. The collaborative and successful partnership was evident throughout the project's duration, fostering a positive and constructive working relationship.
